During an electric storm a day or two ago, the phone bell of Howell-Bunn-Hudson Furniture Company, of Louisville, rang. When Robert Bunn picked up the receiver to answer it, lightning flashed over the wire, and Mr. Bunn was knocked senseless behind some furniture. There were several in the store at the time, who ran to his relief. In a little while he was restored to consciousness, but was very sick for some time.

After a lapse of several weeks, in which the governor asked the indulgence of the pardon seekers in the State, Governor Craig has loosened up on the pardoning mill a bit and two criminals serving road sentences in Iredell and Guilford counties, respectively, were extended clemency.

GUN CLUB NOTES.

Five Men Now Tie for the "Du Pont Trophy."

A large crowd turned out to see the local shooters in their second day's contest for the "Du Pont Trophy" on Monday afternoon.

The total score for the two days' now stands:

Ripley	45
Moore	45
Rusher	45
Chisholm	45
Lowndes	39
Durham	43
Reese	43

Ripley and Lowndes were not quite up to their usual form, while some of the other contestants did better shooting than the week before. The contest will be continued on Thursday afternoon at 5 o'clock. All shooters take notice, and come out and shoot with the club. Guns and ammunition furnished on the grounds.

The large crowd in attendance came out to see Mr. and Mrs. Topperwein who gave a wonderful exhibition. Mrs. Topperwein and Mrs. Butler of Jacksonville shot with the local boys to fill out the squads. Mrs. Topperwein breaking 24 without a miss.

Both Mrs. Topperwein and Mrs. Butler have a happy faculty of being able to shoot with a party of men, without making one of the men feel uncomfortable in the slightest degree. Although Mrs. Topperwein has been for years, constantly before the public, she retains her quiet, dignified manner. Their exhibition was wonderful to a novice, and still more wonderful to a man used to handling a gun.

The governor of North Carolina has made requisition on the governor of Georgia for delivery to Durham authorities of Sidney Carr, escaped convict from Durham county, serving one year for bigamy.

Kinston claims the most unique building in North Carolina, from an architectural point, in the plant of the Imperial Tobacco company at Heritage street and Payton avenue. The large factory where an immense quantity of tobacco is re-dried, stemmed and packed each year for the export trade, has more angles than any other structure in the State, it is believed, and is one of the largest buildings in the city. This house of many lines, which, however, presents a pleasing appearance, is a freak of architecture because as it was necessary to add to it the adjacent ground which was purchased did not conform to the lines of the original property.

C., will build an additional plant with daily capacity 1,000 dozen pairs of hose.

Senator Fletcher of Florida Introduces Important Measure Would be Big Aid to Farmers.

From Washington comes the following dispatch:

Washington, Aug. 9.—A national rural banking system was proposed in a bill today by Senator Fletcher, chairman of the American commission on industrial credits, and also of the federal commission on rural credits appointed by the president.

The bill proposes a system of local national rural banks owned and operated by farmers; a state national rural bank in each state to be owned and controlled by the local banks as stockholders, and the national rural bank of the United States to be located in Washington, to be owned entirely by the rural banks.

"Rural Banking Board." To supervise the proposed chain of banks there would be created in the treasury department a division of rural banking under the direction of a "rural banking board," to consist of the secretaries of the treasury, agriculture and labor. The division would be under the immediate direction of a "director of rural banking" chosen by the president.

The main purpose of the banks would be to furnish funds to farmers on long term farm bonds or notes secured by liens on farms at not exceeding 60 per cent of their assessed value. Loans would be secured first by a local bank, then by a state bank, and last by the national rural bank of the United States, and they would run from twenty to fifty years. The national rural bank is designed to have a capital and surplus exceeding $100,000,000, while the stock of each local bank would be limited to $2,000,000.

Senator Fletcher, speaking in the senate today to urge immediate consideration of the measures by the banking committee and its passage at the special session of congress, expressed approval of the administration currency bill as a commercial banking bill, but said it would not meet the needs of the agricultural communities because of the necessity for long term loans.

The proposed federal reserve system, the senator said, did not offer such relief and the provisions of his measure, he maintained, though not perfect, would meet the requirements.

L. O. O. F.'S PHENOMINAL GROWTH.

The Fraternity in State Now Numbers 16,000—Over 260 Lodges—Many T. P. Lodges for New Lodges—Grand Master Shipman Enthusiastic.

(Raleigh News and Observer.) That the order of the Odd Fellows in North Carolina is enjoying a phenomenal growth in the history of the order in the State is indicated by recent reports showing that the membership at the present numbers 16,000 with this membership divided into something over 260 lodges in all sections of the State. Added to this encouraging report is the fact that many applications are now under establishment of new lodges in many portions of the State. Grand Master M. L. Shipman speaks with pride of the encouraging signs that are in evidence for the future growth and welfare of the order in this State.

The latest addition to the new lodges that have recently been established along with the others under consideration is the lodge established at Sunburst, Haywood county, with a membership of 40 to start off with. T. L. Green, of Waynesville, instituted the new lodge.

THE MIND OF A BOY.

Find His Idol and You Have the Key to His Life.

Warren A. Slee, 13 years old, lay sick for weeks, and, according to a Washington dispatch, physicians said they did not think he would recover. Then the lad went into delirium and talked of Walter Johnson, the "speed king" among the pitchers of the American League. He had been the boy's idol, the man of men before whom this lad had stood secretly in awe, and when the mind was free the idol of his worship spoke to him.

When the term came back to Washington from its Western trip a member of the boy's family had intuitive sense enough to seek out the pitcher and tell him what the doctors said. Naturally Mr. Johnson wanted to go to the boy's bedside, but the physicians said no, that the excitement would be fatal.

So he wrote this letter, and it was read to the boy in an interval of delirium:

"My Dear Mr. Warren: I take pleasure in sending you herewith one of the baseballs used on our Western trip, and hope that you will soon have the opportunity of using it with your friends."

Pills, powders and surgery had failed, but an idol worked another miracle. As if touched by the gods of old, there was an immediate change for the better, and on Saturday it was said that Warren will soon leave the hospital and be able to use that baseball. The primitive mind had been allowed to work.

Many distinguished writers have tried in vain to describe the psychology of miracles such as these. Kipling and his "Brushwood Boy," Kenneth Grahame and his "Golden Age," they have essayed to explain the mind of boy, but it cannot be done. All that we know is, as Thackeray says, that every boy at a stage in his life has some idol. Of course, the idols change, eventually becoming feminine. Yet if our learned uplifters would seek to learn the name or nature of each boy's idol, and work through it, instruction in moral hygiene and eugenics would become obsolete. That way progress lies. If an idol can save a life it can do other things, for it represents the boy's ambition at its best and most impressionable period.

And what matter the form the idol takes? It may be, as it often is, a locomotive engineer, a drum major, a baseball pitcher; through the hero worship of these exalted beings the boy's salvation lies. Text books on biology were never intended for the primitive mind.—N. Y. Sun.

FOUR MILLION WOMEN VOTERS. Representatives in Washington Framing Resolution for Congress.

Washington, Aug.—Representatives of four million women voters comprising the National Council of Women Voters, today began a three days' convention here to formulate plans for the submission of a resolution to the regular session of Congress in December providing for an amendment to the Federal Constitution granting universal women's suffrage. The determination of the women to begin a concerted move on Congress was voiced by Miss Alice Paul, chairman of the Congressional committee of the National American Women's Suffrage Association. She declared at the morning session that it was no longer practicable for the Association to fight for the franchise State by State, but that the time was ripe for an immediate concerted movement.

Better Babies.

These suggestions are taken from The Woman's Home Companion: To raise bigger and better crops. To improve your live stock. To produce richer milk. To make better bread. To make more money in bank. To make your baby bigger and stronger.

To raise the standard of health in your family? To reduce doctor's bills? To have happier children in your home?

If you are nursing your baby take a daily sponge bath. Sleep eight hours each night with your window wide open. Eat nourishing food, plenty of vegetables and fruit. Drink at least two quarts of water daily.

Lie down and relax at least an hour every afternoon. Do not drink tea of coffee to excess. Try cocoa or chocolate instead. Do not take patent medicine or stimulants of any sort.

Do not fret, worry or indulge in fits of temper. Let the baby nurse five times daily, but not during the night. If your baby is bottle-fed, know where the milk comes from, and be sure it is put and clean.

Set in a cool, clean place as soon as it is delivered. Scald the vessel or bottle in which you keep milk, and allow it to cool before you put milk in it. Use a separate vessel for heating baby's milk, never a utensil in which other food is cooked.

Do not keep the milk in a compartment of the ice-box or refrigerator where other food is kept, and do not leave the bottle or container uncovered.

Do not strain dead or dying flies from milk and then feed the milk to your baby.

If cow's milk do not agree with your baby, consult a physician. He will tell you how to modify the milk.

The baby is cross because he is fed or taken up whenever he cries. He is fed too much. He gets ice cream or candy. He is dressed too warmly.

He needs a bath. His bowels do not move properly. He is wet.

He is kept up to late. He sleeps in a hot room with windows shut.

He is carried, rocked or bounced. He is taken to the "movies."

He is given a pacifier, or soothing syrup.

Indiana Senators Urge Democrat for Consul-General at London.

Washington, Aug. 21.—A determined effort is on foot to oust John L. Griffiths of Indiana from his position as Consul-General at London, despite the supposed fact that the Consular Service is controlled by civil service regulations. Griffiths is a Republican and it is said that in former years, when active in politics, it was his great delight to assail William J. Bryan, the present Secretary of State.

Senators Kern and Shively of Indiana are urging the removal of Mr. Griffiths and the appointment of Harry Warrum, a young lawyer of Indianapolis.

It is said that Consul-General Griffiths has made an efficient and energetic official.

Fills 60-ft. Silos With Ease!

The day of the skyscraper silo is here. No silo too high for the Smalley! When George Crow, of Hendersonville, Kan., got ready to fill his 60-ft. silo he promptly sent for a Powerful "Smalley" and patented chain-drive Blower to do the cutting and filling. When C. L. Cook, of Hendersonville, Mich., wanted to fill the four biggest silos in the U. S. he got a Powerful "Smalley." Real business farmers like Mr. Crow and Mr. Cook have no time to fool with the old stat-apron type of machine. They want this force-feed chain-drive, grip-hook kind, made by Smalley only. Thus they save a tremendous amount of work and do a quicker, cleaner job. No coarse, uneven silage. All uniformly cut. Which means greater tonnage per acre.

POWERFUL SMALLEY FORCE-FEED CHAIN-DRIVE CUTTER

not only handles green silage, but is also a wonder at cutting dry feed. Handles alfalfa, for instance, to perfection. Letters in catalog prove it. Many farmers use their Powerful "Smalley" to cut corn in the fall and oats and peas in the spring for feeding when pasture dries up in July. Only one drive pulley on blower outfit. No idler to bother with. Ten per cent steel guaranteed in all foundry castings. No oiling by hand—hard oil cups on all important bearings. You won't know what a real Silo Filler is till you've seen the Powerful "Smalley" or had the Smalley Catalog. Why not send a postal this minute for the latest Smalley Catalog and learn about the Silage Machine that four out of five silo owners now use? Write now and you'll get this fine, useful book by return mail.
